The stock question 'Where were the Pelice? appears in this case to be very applicable. The Temple people had a permit to ply the playful gong and drum up to 11 p.m., and not later: where therefore, were the Police? We have said that the charges for godown rent at the rate of 5 candareens per day per chest is not only exorbitant, but most unfairly levied upon importers, and just as unfair as if they were called upon to pay for the boots, washing, or perhaps cigars of the staff in the opium godown for the sole collection of likin.

His Excellency the Acting Governor said the Council would resume consideration of the Public Health Bill. On the motion of the Attorney Genera the following clause (4 in subsection 3) referring to the definition of 'lodging-house was read :- 'a. Mr Chater-After sending in m amendment to this clause, I thought the matter over and I am now of opinion that; it would be better to substitute the following amendment :- The Board shall consist of the Surveyor General, the Registrar General, the Captain Superintendent of Police, the Colonial-Surggon : six non-official-member two of whom (one being Universe) shall be elected by the Crown lessees of the agents in Hongkong, two by the dustices of the Peace, and two (of whom one shall be Chinese) by such taxpayers as are included in the Special and Common Jury Lists of this Colony or such others as are exempted from-serving on juries by their professional

Hon: Mr MacEwen seconded the amen ment. He thought this change would be much better than giving so much power to the Crown Lessees. In this Colony thought they numbered two thousand, and 5 per cent. of them were Chinamen. Therefore he considered it would be putting too-much power in the liands of the Chinese if it was oppfined to the Crown Lessess. Hon- Mr Ryrie supported the amend-sitting was to the following effect. Instead of one member being elected by the Chamber of Commerce and one by the Justices of the Peace, that two should be elected by Special and Common-Jury Lists, also by such ratepayers as are exempted from serving on juries, and that four should be appointed by Government. The Government is of opinion that this is the utmost concession we can make. The amendment as now proposed by the hon, member on my right would introduce an entirely new system into our Government. If we think that the time for a representative or elective system to be introduced here has come, it ought to begin in the Legislative Council It must, however, be remembered that the nominee of the Government when once he accepts office as a member of the Board is perfectly independent; and I -- think that those members of this Council who have been nominated by the Government. ever since the extension of the Council have never, so far as I can learn, shown any want of independence whatever. They have never looked upon themselves as merely the mouthpieces of the Government simply because they were appointed by the Government, Of course I only speak from what I have read or seen, but I think I am perfectly right in saying that even the non-official members of Council had been elected by the ratepayers or by the Crown-lessees instead the Government, there could not have

It seems to me that there has been a hold its meetings in public, I think that in so far increasing the size of this Board, this is so, the voice of one member therefore, it would not after the clause what were the registered views of the Gomaterially, and I think it would help to verpment, then there would be some reason shown for trying to get independent The Acting Attorney General point- votes. Free as they are at home in England, hard as the State has tried to make elections perfectly free and independent, we all know perfeetly well that the men of money and property are selected. We find very few working-men representing us in England, and we know, or we can imagine pretty, well, what such a representative Board as you contemplate would be. ___ Wo can't help thinking that if we regard the interest of everybody—the Garrison, the Navy, people who pass through the Colony and the poor for whom we legislate, they would be far better off as regards the regulation of sanitation under such a Board as the Government proposes to be constituted. than under such a Board as, apparently, some of the members wish to be constituted. There is no such arbitrary body of men. I suppose, at home as a Municipal Sanitary Board. Well, we are young as. regards sanitation and we are merely trying to lead the Colony. Some think that this bill is a very mild one, and some described it as rather weak. Well, in this matter of sanitation we consider, as I have always endeavoured to explain, that we have a very serious duty to perform. At all events for the present we consider that the least wo can do is to give the Government proper control in the interest of the public over the Board, although at the same time making it as representative as we think right

We know what we want, and to say that we are going o have a grandfatherly Government—this is something which we do not like; we reent it. We do not believe that Your Exellency can suppose that you are dealing with men who have not known, all of hem, what Sanitary Boards are in England as well as elsewhere. We know what they are, and will not permit it to be said that we cannot go on without being in leading strings. His Excellency-Do not let me be misunerstood. I think everybody knows that am very much in favour of people managing their own affairs. I only speak in a general way with regard to the whole of this comunity. As has been explained, we are lealing with a yery large population of llineso who represent more than 75 per cent of the whole. Therefore, when I peak I am speaking with regard to all classes; I am speaking of the whole Colony: I am not speaking of those gentlemen round me now who represont the best intellects in the Colony. Whoever could suppose that I was making ny personal reflections (I was speaking of the place as a Colony containing, according to the last census, 160,000 Chinese the number would be rather more now, as the ensus was taken some time ago. I say and I repeat it that the Government ought to take the initiative. Lam very sorry if anyhody in Hongkopg thought that I in way depreciated the good sense and intellect of the place, and I am surprised at an Hon, member endeavouring to attribute anything of that sort to me.

Hon. Mr Ryrie Tou will find that there are among these 160,000 Chinese a good namy thousands who have just as keen intellects as we have. They know exactly what is right, and what is wrong. Mr Ryrie said - I have already objected to this clause, but seeing that all the others have been already sat upon. I do not see there is any use to object. I think if this Council are to have a Board of paltry sum, and this clause might tio their hands very often. Probably your Excel-I think, if the Board is to have any existence at all, it should not be limited to such a small sum.

The Chief Justice-I wish to say that in my opinion this section ought not to be in the Bill at all, because the Governor is entirely responsible for all the sums that are spent. I do not see if you put down $50 why you should not put down $1000. If there is any money to be expended, the President, who is likely to be a responsible person appointed by the Government, ought to take the responsibility of spending knowing that he would be able toget the Government's authority afterwards. As a matter of fact the spending departments have often to spend sums of money for which they subsequently get the ratification of the Government. If it was the desire of the Coun cil that this clause should be inserted, he had no objection, but he thought it would be better to strike it out.

The Acting Attorney General pointed out that the clause only gave the Government the option of interfering if it was thought necessary, and that the Chairman would take upon himself the responsibility of spending the money if he thought he would get the sanction of the Govern-Mr Ryrie quite agreed with the suggestion that the clause should be left His Excellency said the Government were quite willing that the clause should be struck out. They did not think it right, however, to withdraw it without its being brought before the Council and discussed. There must always be something left to the Board. They must not have to come to the Government for every little item,

The Clause was accordingly struck out. Coming to Section 13, a good deal of diseussion took place on the sub-sections. The Acting Attorney General moved that in the first section the words of public or main drains and sowers as also and also the words 'and sewers' be left out, leaving the clause to read :-

It is generally recognized by those who Mr MacEwen I would point out to the are professionally competent to judge, in-Hon, gentleman that the official element cluding the Surveyor General of the colony, may predominate. It must be borne in that the silting up of the entire foreshore of mind that the Government has the power the City of Victoria, due to a great extent to appoint four members. There is nothing to natural and upavoidable causes, is going to prevent the Government from appointing on upon a scale so extensive as to make it impossible to provent or eved partially ar-His Excellency-With regard to the rest the evil by the employment of steam military, the military have their own dredgers, and that, therefore, the only Board of Health. of low tide. His Excellency General Cameron, who since his assumption of the Government has manifested so keen an interest in the initia. tion of sanitary measures, will not fail to appreciate the enormous benefit to the public health which would accrue from the removal of so grave a danger to the community as that presented by the actual condition of our Praya foreshore.

But this project of proposed new reclamations will recommend itself to His Excellency's approval on grounds equally important; i e. the increased room which it will throw open for new buildings and dwelling houses, and consequent relief that it will afford to the present overcrowded condition of the city in the very centres where that overcrowding exists.

The project aims at pushing out into deep water the entire marine frontage of the City of Victoria, at present left for the most part high and dry at low tide, and by placing the new Praya Wall 250 feet, on an average, outside of the present Prays, thus securing an average depth of twenty feet of water along the sea wall even during the lowest tides, and thereby giving ships of fairly deep-draught access to the proposed new quays along their whole extent. I have now had for some years considerable practical experience of sea reclamations in feet that the Government direct that all re- Hongkong, having been instrumental in the carrying out of large works of this kind in equally deep water at Kowloon, Shik-tongtsui, and Kennedy town, and my opinion that the present project may be realized without any engineering difficulty is fully

I have professionally consulted. A work of the magnitude here suggested may perhaps at a first glance be deemed far Health, it night give them power to spend a too umbitious, and His Excellency may little more than $50. I believe it is against consider it too costly for the resources of the regulations of the Secretary of State, the colony, but the chief feature of the but the Secretary of State, if asked, might the colony, but the chief feature of the give them some latitude. 850 is a very scheme is that, while, benefitting the Government and the community at large, it may be effected without involving the expenditure of one single dullar of public lency will sanction their requisitions, but funds, unless the Government desires to participate also in the reclamations in respect of such of its own properties as aresituated along the Praya, and for which I estimate it may obtain attauction sale a net profit of not less than $1,500,000, after paying expenses attendant on the work of re-

In Hongkong, land has now attained such high values, in consequence of the increased prosperity of the colony and the influx of population, that it is found remunerative even to reclaim sites from the sea atgreat expense to the owner. I astimate at the average cost of the reclamations will in no case exceed two dollars a square. foot when all expenses are paid, while not a square foot of the new land will sell for less than four dollars a square foot, and by farthe larger proportion will realize from twelve. to fifteen dollars a square foot. I am. sanguine, therefore, that if the Government were to lease to the marine lot-owners the areas which they would be able to reclaim under the present project, they, or the majority of them, would be willing to come forward and by carrying out the work at their sole expense, achieve free of cost to the public, the greatest sanitary improvement of which the colony has ever stood in-

To secure the co-operation of the marine lot-owners, howover, in a great health reform like this it would be necessary that the Government should, consistently with its practice in all pravious cases of sea reclamation by prevate enterprise, not surcharge the new land to be made with any premium. To levy a premium on ground made artificially by them at so heavy a personal cost, would be to deprive the marine lot-owners of the fruit of their labours, and might throw cold water on a project from which so much good is to be anticipated to the whole community.

His Excellency the Acting Governor will moreover; recognize that in surrendering to-Government a large proportion of their the views and wishes of the Marine Lotreclamations, for the purposes of roads and streets for the general use of the public, the to avail himself of your offer to act as an lot-owners would be paying more than the ventilating, and maintenance of private requiredent of a fair premium.
